Speakers

Brian Palmer, DDS

Dr. Brian Palmer retired last year in Kansas City, MO, after being a full time family practice dentist for 35 years. Since 1975 he has been involved in self-funded research trying to determine the reasons for the collapse of the oral cavity and airway. This has led him to research on the importance of breastfeeding as it relates to total health and how breastfeeding can possibly reduce the risk of obstructive sleep apnea. He has traveled extensively worldwide lecturing on his findings.

Kathy Cook, RD, MPH

Kathy Jo Cook is a registered dietitian with a Masters of Public Health degree. She is currently on the faculty of Brigham Young University-Idaho in Rexburg in the Department of Home and Family. The focus of her presentation is on the nutritional needs of the breastfeeding mother.

Judy Rosevear-Pusey, OT, MS

Judy Rosevear-Pusey is an Occupational Therapist for the Department of Health and Welfare, Infant/Toddler Program for the State of Idaho, as well as a private contractor for an outpatient clinic and a home health agency. She has worked with pediatric clients and their families for 35 years and has encountered many different diagnoses and sensory issues. Judy consults on special needs infants with feeding issues including difficulty with breastfeeding.

Joanne Burke Snyder, RN, MA, MSN, IBCLC

Joanne Burke Snyder is currently employed at Eastern Idaho Regional Medical Center as a lactation consultant. She holds a Master of Arts degree in human development, with a human lactation specialization from Pacific Oaks College in Pasadena, California and a Master of Science degree in nursing from the University of Phoenix. She is a board certified lactation consultant and a NIDCAP (Newborn Individualized Development Care and Assessment Program) examiner. Ms. Snyder is a published author on breastfeeding and has presented and lectured on the subject in numerous states.
